

PRIMARY CHILDREN'S MEDICAL CENTER FOUNDATION

The child first and always

June 2002

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great pleasure that I recognize the talents of Richard Young and Lena Tortich. A couple of years ago, Primary Children's Medical Center developed a small parcel of ground near the front entrance of the hospital. Dedicated the "Angel Garden," the area was designed to allow patients an opportunity to leave their hospital room and enjoy the beauties of nature.

Having a desire for something that would serve as a signature piece to the garden, we contacted Young Fine Art Studio. Perhaps, what we appreciate most about working with Richard and Lena is that they are good listeners. They never tried to convince us as to what we wanted, but rather heard our desires and objectives and set forth to meet them.

As a result, our garden greets patients, parents, visitors, and staff with a bronze, childlike angel, surrounded with butterflies. It will no doubt in years to come, be an icon that many will identify with Primary Children's Medical Center.

We sincerely hope to have the opportunity work with these outstanding artists in the future.

Sincerely,

Sharon A. Goodrich
Director of Annual and Corporate Giving
